Looking Ahead 2025-2027 Biennium

Behavioral Health is Health

Our Approach

Services provided by the division are grounded in the Institute of Medicine's Continuum of Care model. The model recognizes the need for a full range of high-quality services including promotion, prevention, treatment, and recovery [SAMHSA].

Promotion & Prevention

Strategies create an environment that promotes the health and well-being of individuals and communities, which prevents problems before they occur.

Early Intervention

These strategies identify those individuals at risk for or showing the early signs of a disorder with the goals of intervening to prevent progression.

Treatment

Services are clinical interventions designed to address the needs of an individual with a behavioral health diagnosis.

Recovery

Services support the individuals' ability to live a meaningful, productive life in the community.
