Harvest Lot

Harvest lot means a specifically identified quantity of the same strain of marijuana that is cultivated utilizing the same growing practices, harvested within a 72-hour period at the same location and cured under uniform conditions.

Usable Marijuana

Dried Leaves and Flowers

Medical Marijuana Products

Batch means a quantity of dried leaves and flowers from a harvest lot; a quantity of cannabinoid concentrate, or medical cannabinoid product from a process lot.

Process Lot

Cannabinoid Concentrates or Extracts

Process Lot

Medical Cannabinoid Products

Process lot means any amount of:
a) Cannabinoid concentrate of the same type and processed within a 48-hour period using the same extraction methods, standard operating procedures, and batches, not to exceed three, from the same or a different harvest lot; or
b) Medical cannabinoid product of the same type and processed within a 48-hour period using the same ingredients, standard operating procedures, and a process lot or process lots, not exceed three, of cannabinoid concentrate as defined in (a).

Process Lot

Cannabinoid Solutions

Process Lot

Cannabinoid Capsules

Process Lot

Cannabinoid Transdermal Patches

Process Lot

Cannabinoid Topical

Updated October 2019
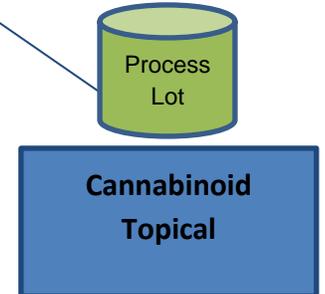

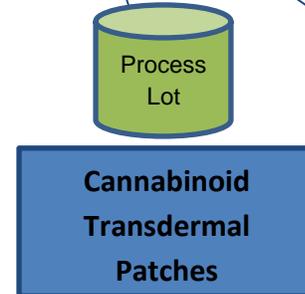

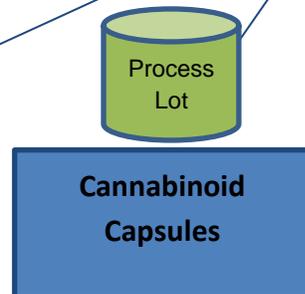

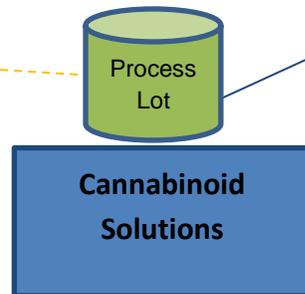

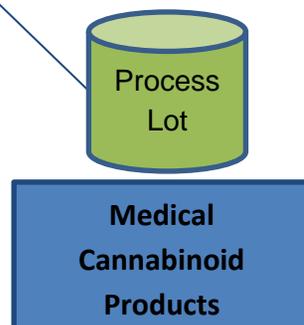

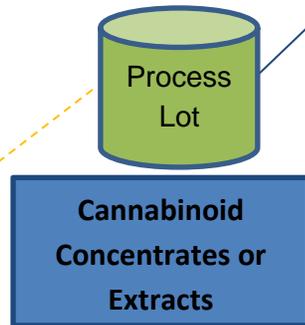

Required Compliance Tests

Dried Leaves and Flowers

- Pesticides/degradation compounds
- Water activity/moisture content
- Microbiological contaminants and mycotoxins
- Heavy Metals
- THC/CBD concentration

Cannabinoid Concentrates or Extracts

- Pesticides/degradation compounds
- Microbiological contaminants and mycotoxins
- Solvents
- Heavy Metals
- THC/CBD concentration

Cannabinoid Solution

Cannabinoid Capsules

Cannabinoid Transdermal Patches

Cannabinoid Topical

- Pesticides/degradation compounds
- Microbiological contaminants and mycotoxins
- Solvents
- Heavy Metals
- THC/CBD concentration